Canada Will Have 500,000 Men In Branches Of Armed Services By End Of Year

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Military Correspondent
OTTAWA, March 26.—(CP)—Canada, with a peace-time strength of less than 100,000 men in the active and reserve formations of the army, navy and air force, will have between 500,000 all ranks either under arms or partially trained by the end of the present year.

Unlike the expeditionary force of approximately 620,000 men enlisted during the first year of the first Great Britain's Canada's modern military organization has been built up without aid of high-pressure recruiting campaigns.

Up to the present the voluntary response has been sufficient to meet the needs of the active force and to provide already been introduced to strengthen and consolidate the reserves.

INDUSTRY CLERKED UP
Throughout the length and breadth of the dominion, training camps where the essential manpower is being turned out for the front branches of the services are thrumming with activity.

Meanwhile the dominion's industries are being geared to meet the ever-increasing demands of this vast war program which will call for an expenditure in excess of $1,000,000,000 during the fiscal year 1941-42. Already millions more have been expended.

In a recent speech announcing Canada's accelerated war effort, Prime Minister Mackenzie King warned that Germany was preparing to unleash a series of blows of unprecedented violence against the British Empire.

"Total war," he said, "will be waged by the enemy. There is only one way to meet total war. That is by total effort until victory has been won."

BOOST OVERSEAS FORCE
At the same time the Prime Minister declared that further reinforcements would be dispatched overseas during 1941 to augment the Canadian Corps under command of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton.

With the arrival of these forces it is estimated the Dominion's overseas fighting strength will be boosted to beyond the 100,000 mark.

The stepped-up war program also provides for expansion of the Empire air training school by the addition of approximately 26,000 men before the end of the present year.

Upwards of 20,000 airmen are expected to be turned out annually once the scheme is operating at full capacity. That stage, reliable sources say, is not far off.

The Canadian navy which at the outbreak of war comprised 13 ships and a personnel of 1,731 is scheduled to be increased to 413 ships and 26,900 men by March 31, 1942.

MORE MEN TRAINING
To meet the needs of expansion in the armed services thousands of men have been entering training centres scattered across the Dominion.

Although the actual number of recruits being trained for active service has not been revealed, camp accommodations is available for more than 200,000 men. Additional billets could be found immediately if an emergency arose.

Some of this accommodation will be used by men called up under the four-year conscription scheme. The first class summoned to camp embraced less than 5,000 men in the first year and no provision has been made for a turn-out of upwards of 60,000 men in the 12 months from March 26. It has been announced between 40,000 and 50,000 active army recruits will also be required this year to replace losses in overseas theatres.

PARTIAL TRAINING
Partial training has also been given to more than 80,000 men between the ages of 21 and 25 called up under the original 30-day training plan.

And the reserve army formations, whose strength according to latest returns is just under 100,000, a general retraining process is under way.

Orders recently went out to commanding officers of reserve units advising them to get ready for a possible emergency. As a result most of these formations are being reorganized on a four-year basis to provide a reserve on active service if needed or employed on home defence duties.

Units depleted by transfer of men to active forces, by reorganizations or by other means are being brought to strength. According for reserve units being reformed last August, but the reorganization order issued late in February.

All reserve formations will be strengthened from time to time by graduates of the compulsory training plan. Such retraining, however, is subject to service in Canada and overseas and is not supplementary to normal war establishment.

Bases Of Greek Supplies Bombed
Is Italian Claim
ROME, March 26.—(AP)—The Italian high command claimed today that Axis aeroplanes recently bombed Greek supply bases and troop concentrations on the island of Crete. The Italian high command also claimed that the German navy had sunk a Greek supply ship in the Aegean Sea.

Operations of ground forces were reported to have been limited to "normal activity."

The Greek high command reported "several of the battery fire at various points on the front with restricted partial activity." Italian planes, were acknowledged to have bombed a rural district in the north-east. Such reports, however, have raised no damage or casualties.

U. K. GERMANS ORGANIZE TO BEAT HITLER

LONDON, March 26.—(CP)—Formation of a "Union of German Socialist Organizations in Great Britain" was announced today by German Socialists who said their objective is to aid in the struggle for the defeat of Hitler and his allies.

A statement said the Socialists are convinced the overthrow of Hitler is necessary to ensure permanent peace and Germany's future.

Members and sympathizers in the Socialists organizations were said to be their officers to number "thousands."

About 70,000 Germans and Austrians live in the 1,000 of whom have been interned.

WILLKIE GIVEN WARM FAREWELL BY EASTERN CITY

By GEORGE KITCHEN
MONTREAL, March 26.—(CP)—Wendell Willkie left Montreal for New York, France, after a tumultuous send-off from cheering, singing thousands who jammed the concourse of downtown Montreal station.

The train, Mr. and Mrs. Willkie waving a last good-bye from the back platform, rolled out of the station shortly after 11 p.m., ending a day during which the couple endured through crowded streets and visited numerous plants.

It was one of the most boisterous farewells ever accorded a visitor to this cosmopolitan city.

The tone of "For Me, a Jolly Good Fellow" sung by the thousands who filled the hall building after Mr. Willkie delivered a brief address in which he urged Canadians to contribute "double" to the Canadian War Services fund and to the fight to "outvillage Hitler."

The men, Sergeant M. J. Heffernan and Corporal A. Clark, were flown to Calgary and taken by auto to the church just before the services began.

A firing party, escort party and bearer party had all in attendance at the church.

Major Howard Gault, district recruiting officer for Military District 13 and an uncle of the dead soldier, arrived in Calgary at noon from Edmonton by plane for the funeral.

Red Shield Has Proud Record Of Service During Emergency: Soldiers Know Salvation Army

TORONTO, March 26.—The soldiers know the Salvation Army. They knew the Red Shield in the first world war, and they know it for the same organization with the same policy of service in this one.

Queen Elizabeth remarked to Lord Woolton, British Minister for Food, when inspecting a Salvation Army canteen, "Some where in England" earlier this year. "These people are always in it, aren't they?" And Lord Woolton replied, "Yes, Your Majesty, and they were from the beginning."

Men and women who wear the Salvation Army uniform are taught to help where the need is greatest, no matter when or where. With their audacious, the Salvation Army officer helps a prisoner or anyone in need of moral and spiritual guidance, believing that the person aided would have been benefited by Christ had he been in the shoes of the Salvationist.

FOUNDER'S PHILOSOPHY
General William Booth, the Founder of the Salvation Army, laid down this philosophy for his followers. "You can't drive a nail into the Golden Rule down a man's throat when his stomach is empty. You can't drive a nail into a man's back when he is cold, and his mind bedeviled with the pangs of any human's first instinct—self preservation."

In war or peace, Salvation Army goes on. The latest figures show 1,399 officers, Salvationists in uniform, in the Canadian "Territory"—main divisions in the language of international headquarters.

London, England. The Red Shield was the service department in but one of a dozen fields of activity.

Earthquake, floods, large conflagrations, and wars for modern society, these create an emergency. They are taught that it is in times of emergency that human beings most need immediate help—practical aid, furnished to the most efficient manner.

There are plenty of figures to tell the actual story of what the Salvation Army's Red Shield war service department is doing today. Eighty-five service centres and huts had been opened in military camps in the United Kingdom in 1914-15. In 1916-17, 1917-18, 1918-19, and 1919-20, the number of centres was 100, 120, 140, and 160 respectively.

Canada To Send Necessary Pilots Minister States

TORONTO, March 26.—(CP)—Air Minister Power said last night that "if as we read in the press over the weekend there will be 20,000 American aircraft delivered to Britain within the next 15 or 18 months, every one of them and more will be manned by graduates of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan."

We'll send them pilots to handle them, otherwise to navigate them and to fight them," he said. Mr. Power spoke on behalf of the Canadian War Services Fund at a meeting of 2,000 volunteer workers.

Mr. Cairns said he regretted that he had been prevented from Mr. Gardiner's session in clarification of the position regarding a national campaign for funds this year but that on decision of the society would be made until the annual meeting in Toronto next month.

"We had not agreed not to have a national campaign," said Mr. Cairns, "but we had agreed to let the matter stand until the annual meeting and make our decision then."

Mr. Gardiner was reported to have said in the House of Commons last March that the Red Cross had agreed not to put on a drive in 1941.

OBJECTIVE OF SAVINGS DRIVE TO BE EXCEEDED
OTTAWA, March 26.—(CP)—Sales of war savings certificates in the first year of operation will exceed the initial objective of $30,000,000 by $10,000,000, said W. A. Somerville, joint national chairman of the war savings committee, in a report tabled in the commons yesterday by Finance Minister, Mr. Bennett.

Certificates were on sale May 27, 1940, and Mr. Somerville said that in recent weeks sales "have attained a level equivalent to an annual volume of $10,000,000 a month." This rate of $10,000,000 a month was the objective set last fall with sharp acceleration of the Dominion war effort.

By the end of December, certificates sales were over $20,000,000 and stamps bought but not surrendered for certificates amounted to $1,000,000.

Mr. Somerville expressed belief that the $10,000,000 a month purchases would increase.

NO DECISION ON RED CROSS DRIVE FOR THIS YEAR

TORONTO, March 26.—(CP)—W. J. Cairns, assistant national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, said last night that the organization recently had written to Hon. J. G. Winter Precipitation Figures For Prairies Varied; Rains Needed

TORONTO, March 26.—(CP)—The western grain-grower has one eye on the weather these days and the other on the government's program aimed at reduction of wheat acreage. The government's proposals may cause much discussion, but precipitation records and similar matters become less controversial as preparations for spring planting get underway.

NAZIS EXTEND WARFARE ZONE TO GREENLAND

Berlin Announces Atlantic Operations Are Widened—Island Included

BERLIN, March 26.—(CP)—Germany announced Tuesday night in a decree that the zone of her Atlantic war operations had been extended westward to within three miles of Greenland, including British-occupied Iceland and surrounding waters.

A Nazi proclamation warned navigation against approaching Iceland, which British and German troops have occupied since the spring of 1940 following the German invasion of the British Isles.

(Actually in practice the German command is to keep the Atlantic as a war zone, and only recently Prime Minister Churchill said that British ships were operating on the western side of the Atlantic.)

CONSIDERED FORMALITY Some observers believed, however, that the formality was taken partly in an attempt to take advantage of the German propaganda machine which forbids American vessels from entering the war zone.

United States ships have been paying to Iceland, which has been used by Britain, if not from one point from which American cargoes were transhipped to Britain.

The German proclamation claimed Britain was trying to use Iceland as a base against the German counter-blockade.

When Germany declared a "total blockade" of Britain last August 17, the war zone as laid down included the Shetland Islands but not Greenland.

U. S. SHIPPING United States ships were not allowed to enter the original zone and repatriation was left to whether, with the extension of the zone to Iceland, any United States ships would be permitted to go to Iceland.

Three small passenger ships and three freighters operate between New York and Reykjavik, trade between the two cities, however, in the German invasion of Denmark cut that country off from Iceland, her sister kingdom.

Officials said the steamship Godofus would leave New York for Iceland Tuesday night, despite the Nazi blockade decree.

Iceland is an autonomous island kingdom of Denmark, under Danish monarchy. Greenland is a province of German-occupied Denmark.

The German statement said: "As a consequence of the occupation of the Danish Islands by British troops, blockade runners have been permitted to use this island as a base."

"This fact obliges Germany to intensify its coastal and sea operations in the zone around Iceland."

GERMANS ESCAPE JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, March 26.—(CP)—Two German bombers, a fighter and a transport, escaped from an internment camp and started on a daring long haul flight across the border today. The flight was made known Tuesday night when a British plane captured the pair before they reached Aguirre or Moussieque, Portuguese territories or death in June 1940.

Honor Roll TRADE POLICY IS EMPHASIZED

LONDON, March 26.—(CP)—Eight Canadian airmen were among the 100 killed in the Royal Air Force's 824th night raid last Tuesday, March 25, which contained 141 names.

Following is the list of Canadian airmen and their units killed in the raid: Pilot Officer J. G. Bennett, born in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, was killed in the raid. He was flying a Vickers Wellington bomber.

These figures may help members of parliament and the people of our country to appreciate what Canada is committed to and what is meant by the statement that in our opinion, Canada is making the maximum effort of which this country is capable.

But this is merely the financial side. Let us also make the comparison of the human side. Apart from Canada's material resources, we have a large population of over 23,000,000 men and this without taking account of a reserve army for home defence.

For the great contribution which the United States is making, for the still greater contribution which it will make, and for the fact that the people of Canada have nothing but the United States to rely on, the United States has pledged its strength to a victorious end.

But in the enthusiasm of our satisfaction, let us not forget the magnitude of the task which we are undertaking. We are not only fighting the war, we are also fighting the peace.

One should not be forgetful that Canada is spending not only money but also lives. In the history of war have 11,000,000 people given as freely, and as bravely, as the Canadian people?

I venture also to say that Canada alone has been the only country to have a large number of its people in the front lines of the fighting. This is a fact which is not often mentioned.

It is only at this point when we have fully realized the magnitude of the task which we are undertaking, that we are able to see the justice in the Canadian people's determination to fight the war to the end.

In addition to our own war effort, Canada is also a major source of supply for the United States. Since the United States has been at war, Canada has been a major source of supply for the United States.

There has been far too great a tendency, both in the House and in the Senate, to speak of what we are doing as the government's war effort. It is an effort which is not only for the benefit of Canada, but also for the benefit of the world.

As a tribute to the people who are doing the fighting, I should like to remind the House and the Senate that the Canadian people are doing the fighting. It is not only the government, but the people who are doing the fighting.

It is only 18 months since we began the fight. In that time we have done a great deal. We have done a great deal, and we are doing more. We are doing more, and we are doing more.

I should like to remind the House and the Senate that the Canadian people are doing the fighting. It is not only the government, but the people who are doing the fighting.

It is not possible to make a warship go on sea, and fight against the enemy, without the use of the water in the boiler. The water in the boiler is not only for the use of the boiler, but also for the use of the boiler.

I might add that it is equally untrue to say that the Canadian people are doing the fighting. It is not only the government, but the people who are doing the fighting.

We have every right to take pride in our industry and our people. We have every right to take pride in our industry and our people. We have every right to take pride in our industry and our people.

It is not possible to make a warship go on sea, and fight against the enemy, without the use of the water in the boiler. The water in the boiler is not only for the use of the boiler, but also for the use of the boiler.

of these figures into comparative American figures. I understand the national income of the United States is about $100,000,000,000. On that basis the estimated war expenditure of the United States is about $100,000,000,000. On that basis the estimated war expenditure of the United States is about $100,000,000,000.

These figures may help members of parliament and the people of our country to appreciate what Canada is committed to and what is meant by the statement that in our opinion, Canada is making the maximum effort of which this country is capable.

But this is merely the financial side. Let us also make the comparison of the human side. Apart from Canada's material resources, we have a large population of over 23,000,000 men and this without taking account of a reserve army for home defence.

For the great contribution which the United States is making, for the still greater contribution which it will make, and for the fact that the people of Canada have nothing but the United States to rely on, the United States has pledged its strength to a victorious end.

But in the enthusiasm of our satisfaction, let us not forget the magnitude of the task which we are undertaking. We are not only fighting the war, we are also fighting the peace.

One should not be forgetful that Canada is spending not only money but also lives. In the history of war have 11,000,000 people given as freely, and as bravely, as the Canadian people?

I venture also to say that Canada alone has been the only country to have a large number of its people in the front lines of the fighting. This is a fact which is not often mentioned.

It is only at this point when we have fully realized the magnitude of the task which we are undertaking, that we are able to see the justice in the Canadian people's determination to fight the war to the end.

In addition to our own war effort, Canada is also a major source of supply for the United States. Since the United States has been at war, Canada has been a major source of supply for the United States.

LONDON, March 26.—(CP)—Eight Canadian airmen were among the 100 killed in the Royal Air Force's 824th night raid last Tuesday, March 25, which contained 141 names.

Alberta Districts Are Well Organized Now For War Services Campaign

Most encouraging reports are being received by the central organization committee on the progress of the Canada War Services Fund campaign in rural areas. L. Y. Cairn, M.C., chairman, of the central office committee, stated Wednesday

In practically every northern district campaign committees have been formed or are in process of formation, he stated, while in Edmonton and other large centres organization work is completed and active canvass work started.

THEY went to Schraff's near Rockefeller Centre. They sat in a mahogany booth and Johnny Towne did the ordering.

He said, "Hot chocolate for the lady, and a chicken sandwich with a salad, and the usual."

She likes them, didn't she? "Good-night, Julie," Johnny said, "I'm going to kiss you one of these days."

"Don't be too sure," Julie laughed, her heart doing double time.

He said, "I'm going to kiss you one of these days."

People Of Canada Pledge 44 Per Cent Of National Income To War's Support

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—Canada has pledged almost 44 per cent of its national income to direct and indirect support of the allied cause in the war, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons Tuesday.

He added that as a result of recent investigations "the estimate of Canada's gross national income in the new fiscal year has been raised to $55,000,000,000."

"Taking the floor just as the $130,000,000 appropriation bill appeared about to pass its third and final reading after a month of debate Mr. King set out to answer criticism raised in the United States to the effect this country was not making any contribution to Great Britain comparable to that anticipated under the United States lend-lease bill."

Canada's war contribution for the coming fiscal year in terms of money would be the equivalent of $35,000,000,000 out of a total United States national income of $80,000,000,000, said Mr. King.

In addition, Canada was in the war, and contributing men. The 230,000 Canadians on active service, proportionately to the population of an American army of 2,500,000, in relation to the population of the United States.

With the enthusiasm with which Canadians greeted the assistance now offered by the United States, Mr. King said, there was no occasion to disregard the magnitude of the contribution the people of this country were making.

Never in the history of war, he said, "have 1,000,000 people given so freely or pledged to fully their treasure, their resources and their manhood."

Mr. King said in his address that he had not objected to the long list of names on the war appropriation measure because he believed it had been "all to the good." But he feared the real significance of the measure might have been obscured.

"There is too great a tendency to refer to what we are doing as the government's war effort," Mr. King said. "It is Canada's war effort."

TRIBUTE TO PEOPLE
Tribute should be paid those who were making the war effort possible—the great mass of taxpayers in Canada.

In the 18 months since Canada entered the war 230,000 men had been placed on active service and another 175,000 placed on the rolls of the reserve army.

A Canadian army corps, Canadian destroyers and Canadian air squadrons had been placed in the defense of Britain, Ireland, Newfoundland, the West Indies, and Canadian engineers were strengthening the Atlantic in the West Indies.

"From the Atlantic to the Pacific, Canada is throbbing with military activities," the Prime Minister said. "The Canadian navy has grown from 15 vessels at the start of war to 180 at present."

Sixty military training camps were in operation across the Dominion, producing men for the army. The British Commonwealth Air Training plan was reaching its full stride and facilities had been provided for Royal Air Force training abroad in Canada under jurisdiction of the air ministry.

HELPING BRITAIN
Canada had a "lend-lease" plan, the Prime Minister said. It was not only sharing its full part in the struggle, but also the whole of its manhood training forces at home and over-

HEMISPHERE NOW NEARER ZONE OF WAR

Great Interest Evincing In German Extension Of Sea Warfare

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP)—The announced extension of Germany's counter-blockade operations to within three miles of Greenland brought the zone of intensive sea warfare today to the threshold of the western hemisphere which the United States has committed herself to defend.

The proximity of the new threat to Greenland attracted immediate attention here, because authorities have made it known on several occasions that Greenland is considered a part of the hemisphere and so much covered by the Monroe doctrine.

Two United States mail guard cutters, both of them armed, were being now operating in the vicinity of Greenland as part of the patrol.

The new German decree indicated that the extended counter-blockade, claiming British waters, was being taken the position of the Nazi counter-blockade campaign.

Official sources said today the German announcement of extension of the sea war zone to include Iceland was no difference to Britain.

The United States had been asking anything they saw. "The position is unusual," he was quoted as saying.

ADDIS ABABA'S CAPTURE GOAL SET BY BRITISH

CAIRO, March 25.—(AP)—Capture of Addis Ababa before the rains come in early May appeared today to be the goal of the British forces in East Africa—already knocking at the gates of the walled city of Harar.

There was every indication the goal would be reached, observers here said, although they thought it unlikely that the Italians would yield the capital of Ethiopia without fighting at least one big battle.

One Fascist division (10,000 men) is believed holding Harar, under the command of Gen. De Simoni. Although the town is walled, its defenses are not regarded as particularly strong.

The wayward from the captured Ethiopian town of Jijiga apparently was opened by the seizure of Marsa Pasa.
